

Watford Observer – 5 October

The Harlequin is in the Pink this October

This October will once again see a rose-coloured glow spreading across the country with a special month of fundraising for Breast Cancer Campaign. The Harlequin Centre in Watford is getting involved by hosting nine fabulous fashion shows over Saturday 6th and Sunday 7th October. Models will take to the catwalks to showcase the new season's collections from over 40 top stores including John Lewis, Karen Millen and Coast.

Thursday 11th October will be 'Wear it Pink' day in The Harlequin, with all retailers and centre staff dressing in their finest pink outfits, helping to raise even more money for charity. Pink ribbons will be on sale throughout the centre, plus a special Bra Amnesty Box will be located outside the Customer Information Desk, with The Harlequin Centre donating 50p for every bra posted. So it's the perfect excuse to clear out your lingerie drawer and treat yourself to some new pink undies from Marks & Spencer, who along with Warehouse, Dorothy Perkins, and many other stores are offering official Breakthrough Breast Cancer fundraising merchandise. Or simply show your support by visiting The Harlequin where a wide range of pink products are available, including scarves, hats, lip glosses and iPods.

'Wear it Pink' has raised £6.6 million since its launch, and staff and shoppers at the Harlequin Centre will be helping to add to this amazing sum with a host of special events throughout October. Breast Cancer Campaign is the only charity that specialises in funding independent breast cancer research throughout the UK.
